

Program Learning Outcomes for Master of Health and Human Services

- The student will demonstrate skills to critically analyze health and human services' issues.
- The student will demonstrate skills to access and successfully utilize computer sources of health and human services' information
- The student will demonstrate skills that produce research projects and a publishable manuscript in APA style.
- The student will effectively perform proficiently in an online setting.