Gallery Talk Kelli Connell

Friday, September 8, 5-5:30pm

The John J McDonough Museum of Art, on the campus of Youngstown State University opens the fall season with Kelli Connell / Double Life: Fifteen Years. The exhibition, along with the Salon de Fleurus, is one of two exciting shows that will be on display in the galleries September 8-November 3. On Friday, September 8 from 5-5:30pm Connell will give a gallery talk followed by an opening reception which will run until 7pm.

Kelli Connell is currently an Associate Professor at Columbia College in Chicago. Over the course of fifteen years Connell has created a body of work showing the complex and layered nature of relationships. The photographs are much more than they appear on the surface. By scanning and manipulating two or more negatives she creates a new narrative reality. In these digitally transformed photographs, Connell utilizes the same model.

Of her photographs Connell states:

“This work represents an autobiographical questioning of sexuality and gender roles that shape the identity of the self in intimate relationships. Polarities of identity such as the masculine and feminine psyche, the irrational and rational self, the exterior and interior self, the motivated and resigned self are portrayed. By combining multiple photographic negatives of the same model in each image, the dualities of the self are defined by body language and clothing worn. This work is an honest representation of the duality or multiplicity of the self in regards to decisions about intimate relationships, family, belief systems and lifestyle options.

The importance of these images lies in the representation of interior dilemmas portrayed as an external object – a photograph. Through these images the audience is presented with ‘constructed realities.’ I am interested in not only what the subject matter says about myself, but also what the viewer’s response to these images says about their own identities and social constructs.”
